

LIFTING THE BAN IS QUITE A JOB WHEN IT HAPPENS TO BE JOHNSON

STATE WILL BATTLE TO FINISH—BEZDEK

Blue and White Eleven, Here for Penn Battle, Practices at Philadelphia C. C.

HESS WILL NOT START GAME

By EDWIN J. POLLOCK

"It's not my policy to make predictions. I let results speak for the strength of the team, but I will say this: Pennsylvania is going to be in a real fight. There's not a boy on my team who won't fight from the beginning to the end."

Squatty Hugo Bezdek, famed through the country as football coach and baseball manager, chopped out his words concerning his Pennsylvania State eleven with emphasis that presaged a mighty struggle when the Quakers clash with the up-state team on Franklin field tomorrow afternoon.

Leading a squad of twenty players, Trainer Bill Martin, Graduate Manager, and Student Manager Bob Brown, Bezdek came to town early this morning, breakfasted at the Hotel Walton and then had his party driven to the Philadelphia Cricket Club where the team will remain until after lunch tomorrow.

Trainer Bill Martin, who some time ago was a student at Pennsylvania, vouched for the condition of the Blue and White players.

Martin Speaks

"Most of the men are in good shape," said Martin. "Hess, our fullback, has been injured and will not be able to start. Outside of him, however, the boys are on edge. There are a few minor injuries, of course, but where is the football team that's not carrying bruises and scratches?"

The state party had lunch at the Cricket Club and later in the afternoon went through a snappy signal drill on the Chestnut Hill Academy gridiron which adjoins the grounds.

Before the practice, Bezdek and some of his players went out on the links and tried their hand at golf. The State coach is quite a golf enthusiast and can show his proteges as much about the ancient game as he can about football.

Bezdek has decided definitely on his lineup and the team that went through the signal practice will start the game. There were several changes in the personnel of the eleven.

Brown was at left end instead of Egg; Henry had Black's place at right tackle; and Snell was at fullback. Haines took Snell's usual position at rear half.

State Line-up

The Pennsylvania eleven also practiced in the country this afternoon, but the workout was cut to only a few minutes. The squad left Franklin field early this afternoon in automobiles, mainly for recreation. They were driven far out in the country and then came back to the Haverford School gridiron and pranced through signals.

Bob Folwell has virtually decided on his lineup. Only one position has been settled. The usual confusion reigns concerning the left end. Bud Hopper and Ray Miller are about on a par in ability and the policy of starting one one week and the other the next probably will be put into effect. It is Hopper's turn to start tomorrow.

Quaker Line-up

Pennsylvania is striking State when the Blue and White is in the middle of a great rally, and the Red and Blue may be surprised. The Bezdek boys say that they have just found themselves and for the first time this year the machine is running without knock-

Bezdek has developed two teams of almost equal strength and to decide which team was the stronger, he pitted his so-called varsity against his other players who termed themselves the Bolsheviks and the Bolsheviks won by three touchdowns.

That happened last Tuesday. On Wednesday, Bezdek picked men from both teams and on that day the eleven that will battle Penn played together for the first time.

Equal in Weight

The State eleven will average about the same as Pennsylvania in weight. The line, however, will have the edge on the Red and Blue forwards in poundage, but the backfield is light. The team averages about 172 pounds.

Young Charlie Way, a wee bit of a chap who looks more like a mascot than a player when he stands among the husky Bezdek boys, will be one of the opposition that the Quakers will watch. He is as light on his feet as a rabbit and this season he has proved himself one of the best open field runners in the country. On successive Saturdays he ran the opening kickoff back for touchdowns.

Way weighs only 138 pounds, and is the lightest player on any college team of repute. He plays the quarterback position on the defense, but

STATE'S HUSKY SQUAD ON WAY TO CRICKET CLUB

State and Penn Teams About Even in Weight

There will be little difference in the respective weights of the Penn. and State eleven in the gridiron battle at Franklin field tomorrow. The Bezdek line will slightly outweigh Penn's forwards, but the backfield is light. The statistics and probable State line-up follow:

Name	Position	Weight	Height
Brown	left end	168	6.10
Cabbage	left tackle	205	6.10
Rauch	left guard	173	6.10
Conover	center	205	6.10
Osborn	right guard	180	6.08
Henry	right tackle	184	6.02
Haines	right end	181	6.10
Robb	quarterback	164	6.10
Haines	quarterback	164	6.10
Way	left halfback	140	6.07
Snell	fullback	178	6.11
Average	weight	172
backfield	167	weight	172

while the team is on the offense it is under the direction of Harry Robb, a former captain, who last year led the Columbia S. A. T. C. eleven.

All the State men realize that tomorrow they will be against a team rated as one of the best in the country, and they are prepared to fight with their backs to the wall.

SCRAPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS

By LOUIS H. JAFFE

IT WAS reported from New York a few days ago that Benny Leonard would defend his lightweight crown in a fifteen-round decision bout at Tulsa, Okla., November 17. John, the Barber, was named as the promoter, but no definite opponent had been selected.

Now comes the astounding information to the effect that Johnny Duffy has been nominated as the party of the second part. Is Duffy a lightweight? Yes, he is. Duffy is as big a welterweight as there ever was, and even if a decision was to be given against Leonard, he still would be the lightweight titleholder—in name. Benny all but admits that he has outgrown the lightweight division because of the simple fact that his next three opponents are men way over the 123-pound limit.

Leonard is to meet Soldier Hartfield in Jersey City, November 10; then comes his Tulsa tilt with Duffy, and on November 20 the "lightweight champion" will box Johnny Griffiths at Denver. All three are welterweights at the very least, so far as averdupois goes, and don't you think, gentle reader, that it would do boxing in general, especially the lightweight class, a lot of good if Leonard were to announce himself for welterweight competition in the future? Our French brothers would say "ah! oui, oui!"

A middleweight mix between Joe Borrell of this city, and Herman Miller, of Baltimore, will be the headline at the Cambria Club tonight. Both men have announced themselves in perfect fettle. The Frenchman, Rodolphe, will appear in the semfinal with Willie McChesney in the other corner. Young Gibbons vs. Willie Curry; Johnny Pagan vs. Young Barney Reilly, and Johnny Loughey vs. Pete Rose are the other bouts.

Tommy Buck wires as follows from Quebec, Can.: "Before the Ninth Regiment Athletic Club I gave Battling Lahn, from New York, a boxing lesson in every one of the ten rounds, and had him out at the end of the bout; only by his holding me managed to stay the limit."

Willie Britt—on the phone—"Don't forget Billy Kramer boxes Mike O'Dowd at Patterson, November 6, and whether Willie wins the middleweight title or not he takes the midwinter train for Billington, N. Y., where he meets Tommy Ferguson the next day. He will continue his tour of the States after boxes Joe Dorsey at the Olympia November 12."
